The TFM Show® Spotlights Microsoft Office Visio® Professional 2007 at Nation's Premier Facilities Management Event

TINTON FALLS, NJ – February 20, 2007 – The TFM Show® announced today that Microsoft will be demonstrating the latest version of Microsoft Office Visio® Professional 2007 to executives who attend the annual facility management event.

Going into its 10th year, The TFM Show (sponsored by Today's Facility Manager magazine) is the nation's premier forum for senior facility management executives, drawing attendees from every corner of the world. It is the only facility management event that offers a comprehensive program including top-notch educational courses at no charge to attendees; an exhibit hall featuring the latest facility products, services, and technologies; networking events; and unique facility tours.

“The TFM Show is a natural choice for demonstrating what Microsoft Office Visio Professional 2007 has to offer facility managers,” said Aashish Dhamdhare, Visio program manager, Microsoft Corp. “Visio Professional 2007 delivers just the right blend of sophistication and easy-to-use tools that facility managers need to visualize every aspect of a building and to track their site information. Using the software's building, floor, space, and site planning templates, facility managers can illustrate everything from a building's floor plan and electrical wiring to its security system, HVAC components, furniture layout, and mechanical systems.”

In addition to exhibiting at The TFM Show, Microsoft will be the sole sponsor of the Keynote Presentation on April 19, “The Importance of Being Prepared” by Keni Thomas, an Army Ranger involved in the “Black Hawk Down” Mission.

“We are honored that Microsoft has chosen to showcase Visio Professional 2007 to our audience by exhibiting at The TFM Show,” said Susan Coene, TFM Group publisher. “Facility managers attend The TFM Show because they know it's the best place to find the most current information, products, and services in the field. By choosing to exhibit at The TFM Show, Microsoft has tapped into an exceptional opportunity to present the latest version of Visio to the senior-level professionals who manage the world's largest networks of commercial, institutional, and industrial facilities. We're proud to have Microsoft involved in this year's event.”
